Not illustrated. 1894 Excerpt: ... kind will be made in the future. While it may be reasonable to look forward to the ability to telephone through an ocean cable under the Atlantic, it is hardly likely that we shall travel over it in ships propelled by electricity. It would indeed be possible to construct electric motors able to turn screws and propel our largest ships, but the supply of current energy to them at the rate of ten to twenty thousand horse-power, for five days continuously, would require a storage battery to be carried such as would be enormously costly and so heavy that it could not be placed aboard without sinking the ship. It should, however, be borne constantly in mind, in dealing with the subject of electrical applications, that a new discovery might at any time change the aspect of every prophecy based on present knowledge and conditions. By Robert H. Thurston, LL.D., Director of Sibley College, Cornell University. THE Worlds Columbian Exposition, were this the heroic age, would be the source of a new race of demigods. In those ancient days, according to Lord Bacon: Fathers of their Country, and other eminent Persons in Civil Merit, were honoured with the title of Worthies only, or Demi-Gods; such as were Theseus, Minos, Romulus and the like: on the other side, such as were Inventors and Authors of new Arts, and such as endowed mans life with new Commodities, and accessions, were ever consecrated among the Greater and Entire Gods; which happened to Ceres, Bacchus, Mercury, Apollo, and others, which, indeed, was done justly and upon sound judgement: For the merits of the former are commonly confined within the circle of an Age, or a Nation, and are not unlike seasonable and favouring showers, which though they be profitable and desirable, yet serve but for that s...
