

Unemployment, Inequality, Entrepreneurship, and other Collected Papers contains fifteen research papers on important, topical, socially relevant themes such as the extent of unemployment in India, the true nature and the degree of success of Government unemployment alleviation programmes, the interrelationship between growth and equalities, regional disparities in development in India, the concept of entrepreneurship, corporatism, and co-operativism. The book takes a critical and unconventional perspective on certain holy cows such as co-operatives and entrepreneurship.
